BIG FOURTH AT JOHNETTA

Johnetta Ky.,
July 4th, 1912

To Editor of MT. VERNON SIGNAL:

The glorious Fourth has come and gone and we felt that your many readers might be interested in the doings of their countrymen over here on Brush Creek. For several weeks it has been known that Mr. William McCoy the polite and efficient superintendent of the Allrite Coal & Lumber Co., at Johnetta intended for his men to have a day off and celebrate the 4th. Young and old of the community believed that Mr. McCoy would arrange a program for the day that would be both entertaining, instructive and enjoyable and so the occasion was awaited with anxiety by all.

Mr. McCoy's father, Mr. John B. McCoy, his mother and brother, Saul, of Danville Pa., had arrived to visit their son and brother about a week since and on the 3rd. Judge J. Chenault, President of the company, and his wife came up and together they all perfected the arrangements for the days entertainment which was to begin at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Early in the afternoon people began to arrive and by the time the exercises began over one hundred persons had assembled at Johnetta to witness and to be in the performances. The entertainment opened with a seventy yard foot race for small boys, then for larger boys then for men; then an apple race, sack race and wheelbarrow race in the same manner. Suitable prizes for first and second winners were offered and each and every contest was spirited and lively. The races over, came the tug of war. This exercise being new to us we will explain. A large rope about forty feet long was secured, five boys or men secured each end of the rope and the winners of the tug of war was the successful five in pulling the other five over the center line of the rope. It was certainly a very exciting feat of strength and enjoyed by all of the spectators.

High and broad jumps concluded the afternoon performance and preparations were at once begun for the evening entertainment.

The evening entertainment begun by an oration by Judge Chenault followed by Mr. John B. McCoy and Mr. Wm. McCoy after which a thousand or more of skyrockets, and roman candles illuminated the beautiful little valley of Johnetta and lightened up the mountain sides surrounding it. Several American flag balloons lighted up were sent thousands of feet in the air and sailed to the surrounding neighborhoods notifying those who had not attended, that a grand celebration of the 4th, was taking place at Johnetta.

At ten p. m. the celebration was concluded and those assembled reluctantly started for their homes but it could be heard on all sides words of highest praise for Wm. McCoy and those who had assisted him in furnishing for this community the most enjoyable outing they had ever had.

Mr. Editor let me mention again that at least one hundred of our citizens assembled to take part in or witness the exercises. Every person on the ground was orderly and well behaved. No disturbance of any kind occurred. Every one present seemed to be on his best behavior and while I enjoyed to the fullest everything done, the exemplary way in which our people acted filled me with more pleasure than the performance Mr. McCoy promises another program for the next 4th. and I sincerely hope it may be as enjoyable as the one just past.

DAVID G. CLARK.

MEMBER OF
KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION

The removal of Post Master Lee McCharg, at London, by order of President Taft because of an editorial which appeared in the London Echo, criticising the President for the manner in which he received his nomination, is a new precedence for the President of a great nation like ours. What president in the past or who could be in the future, save the one, who did or who will take cognizance of what the little country press has to say, no matter if it does accuse him of stealing a nomination. There is nothing else to it only a whole lot of littleness on the part of some would be great men some where.

ONE Hon. Jesse Alverson who by his misrepresentation of Lincoln in the General assembly acquired the title of Hon. (ary) has called Hon. William Jennings Bryan to time, in one of his masterly four column editorials in a manner that is sure to make the little Nebraska sit up and take notice to what the big Kentuckian has to say. It could well be likened to a tad pole telling a monster elephant what he shall do.

LUMBER AND TIMBER.

In value of products the lumber and timber industry was third in rank in the United States in the census year of 1910, according to an advance bulletin just issued by the Census Bureau.

The figures given are for 1909 in that year there were 40,671 establishments, in which are embraced logging operations, ordinary saw mills, planing mills and wooden box factories. Mills engaged exclusively in custom sawing for local consumption are not included. The number of persons engaged in the industry was 784,989 and the average number of wage earners was 695,019. The capital invested was more than a billion dollars and the value of products approximately was the same.

In average number of wage earners, the first of the ten leading States was Louisiana, with 46,072; then Washington 43,749; Michigan, 35,627; Wisconsin, 34,793; North Carolina, 34,001; Mississippi, 33,397; Arkansas, 32,932; Virginia, 33,287; New York, 27,477; and Pennsylvania, 26,873. In value of products, the ranking order was: First Washington, $89,154,825; New York, $72,529,812; Louisiana, 62,837,912; Michigan, $61,913,560; Wisconsin, $57,969,170; Pennsylvania, $57,453,583; California, $45,000,276; Minnesota, $42,352,507; Illinois, $44,951,804; Mississippi, $42,792,844.

In Kentucky the average number of wage earners employed in 1909 was 23,042; the value of products was $21,380,564; the value added by manufacture, which is the value of products less the cost of materials, was $10,924,276.

The lumber and the timber industry is important in most of the States of the Union. It is especially important in the South and, with the exception of South Carolina all the States of that section lead Kentucky in number of wage earners and in value of products. Kentucky has been cutting timber for many years, but the supply still seems sufficiently large for almost every neighborhood to have its saw mill. If there should be any effective steps taken for conservation, the forestry resources we possess should be adequate for a long period, even at the present rapid rate of consumption.

PIAN CONTEST.

Which proves that it doesn't pay not to wake up. RIGHT NOW is the time to put in your best work. Effort exerted now will be worth ten times the same amount of work later on. Get in the lead if possible; AND STAY THERE. Don't stand back on formality and wait for your friends to present subscriptions to you on a silver platter. In the first place, they may not know that you are in the contest if you do not tell them. And in the second place people like to help those who help themselves. Almost any lady would like to be the glad winner of a piano, the name of which is standard for merit and quality, and a magnificent instrument of tone and beauty. WIN one for yourself easily. The contest is being conducted in a manner which satisfies the Contest Manager that every lady entered is being extended any courtesies which she may request from this department in the way of information and the mailing and sending of blanks and supplies to be used in her work of securing subscriptions. The letters to the Contest Manager indicate that this feeling on the part of the paper is but a reflection of the unanimous sentiment expressed by those participating in the race for the prizes. With perfect understanding existing in this most essential respect there should be no reason why each contestant should not do her utmost to obtain as many votes as possible. All up your coat now. NO NOT WAIT UNTIL TOMORROW. The hustlers are right now out among their friends working. Be one of the ladies who take advantage of the existing opportunity, and if the Contest Manager can be of any assistance in furnishing you with blanks or supplies or advice regarding the contest, call on him for same.

Judge J. T. Adams one of our oldest and best known citizens died at the McChord infirmary, Lebanon, Sunday at 3:31 P. M. Judge Adams, who acquired that title by reason of serving as police judge of the town, was for a number of years a member of the firm of Houk & Adams, one of the leading business firms of the town. After Mr. Houk retired the Judge continued the business in his own name, until a few months ago, on account of failing health sold out his stock of general merchandise and building to Mr. U. G. Baker. He then became associated with Judge J. P. Griffin in the wholesale and retail feed business, but in the meantime, the malady of that treacherous disease diabetes, was preying heavily upon him and the agonies of his sufferings at times it seemed was almost unbearable. Nothing that the most skilled physicians could do brought any relief. His remains were brought here Sunday night and laid to rest in Elmwood cemetery Monday afternoon with Masonic honors.

Eugene Todd died at home near Quail Wednesday of fever.

"You will remember," said she haughtily, "that you proposed to me four times before I consented to marry you. You wouldn't take no for an answer." "I remember," he replied sadly. "It seems to me that every time you have changed your mind I've got the worst of it."

H. J. Mullins in speaking of his fine corn crop says it is the best he has raised since back in 1859, when the foliage grew so high and so heavy that there was continual darkness and was obliged to carry a lantern when passing through the field and also a ladder to use in climbing over giant pumpkins.

Cull McClure says the progressive republicans living along the road between Somerset and Mt. Vernon will surely take to the woods when they observe the approach of that big steam roller on its way over here tomorrow; in fact Cull is a little skittish himself on the subject and is liable to make a dash brushward at the first toot of the roller whistle.

Wm. Hysinger and J. J. Smith of Hiatt, Ky., are two patrons of the Brodhead Fair that have not missed a days exhibition since the fair was organized seventeen years ago. They have not only attended every exhibition but have never failed to be here even when the rain caused the Fair to suspend its show. Of course it needless to say they will be on hand this season, when everybody is saying this is to be the biggest year ever.

Elisha Bullock was over to Somerset first of the week and made arrangements to bring over a road roller to smooth down the new Skaggs Creek pike and had everything ready and steam up for starting across county via Woodstock to Mt. Vernon where the controllers of the machine changed the program saying they would have to use it on a new piece of road in Somerset and would make another start on Saturday July 13th. for our town. Mr. Bullock will meet the outfit at Woodstock with a load of coal and pilot it on thru. It is probable the machine will be retained here to roll the half mile of new pike to be made just west of town.

Owing to the death of the senior member of the firm of Adams & Griffin it will be necessary for all outstanding accounts to be paid so as to wind up the affairs of the firm. The business will still continue at the present location.

The Brodhead Fair has closed contract with A. J. Needles, the reliable Merry-Go-Round man, for their fair, some say no fair is complete without a Merry Go Round, and of course Brodhead is leaving no gaps down this year.

Judge J. T. Adams some two years ago selected three of his friends to act as pall bearers at his burial. They were J. W. Brown, S. C. Franklin and James Mare, who were to name three others on day of burial. J. F. Griffin, C. C. Williams and C. A. Redd completed the list.

An expert was here a few days since from factory and started up the "pulverizer" at Sparda and the plant is now in operation getting out ground limestone that is almost as fine as wheat flour. This promises to be a big business in itself at an early date. The product is used in spreading over land for fertilization purposes.

Sam Maples who was stabbed by Dr. W. A. Jones at Wildie last week is improving and his chances of recovery are good. Maples was stabbed in the lung and at first it was thought that the injury would prove fatal. He was also cut on the neck. The trouble was the result of an old grudge. Dr. Jones will have his examining trial next week.

By special acts of Congress through the efforts of Senator W. O. Bradley, the following Rockcastle survivors of the Civil War, have been granted increases in their pensions from $8, $10, and $12 per month to $24 and $30 per month. The list is as follows: Peter M. Bryant, John H. Jarrett, James H. Baker, J. H. Mullins, Thomas J. North, Joshua Boring, Samuel Black, David G. Bowels, Elijah Cox, Isaac R. Storm.
